Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Personal Reminiscences of the New York Hospital His office was at the corner of East Broadway and Market Street (and they were fashionable streets then). Here he held once a week a sort of clinic for his numerous students. Thither I went in due time and was ushered into his sanctum. He examined my stripped toe and while explaining to the embryo medicos the nature of my trouble, slyly took up a pair of pincers and quickly placing one jaw of this under the nail, clamped the upper jaw to and pulled the nail out. I gave a jump and a wild yell, but it didn't hurt as much as I thought it would, since the nail had been considerably loosened by the prolonged inflammation and suppuration. I went home relieved, and telling my father of it said, I'd like to be able to do like that. This impression was a few months augmented when my father slipped on the ice on the sidewalk and broke his leg. This fracture was called by Dr. Wood, who had been sent for, a Potts fracture at the ankle with considerable turning and dislocation of the foot outwards. With much gentleness Dr. Wood raised and examined the foot, and then, with a sudden and strong twist, forced the bones into place. The patient's pain was great, but momentary, and a splint deftly applied allowed everything to progress smoothly. The next day I announced my firm determination to become a surgeon and in brief was placed later by our family physician, Dr. Benjamin Ogden, formerly resident physician of the Bloomingdale Asylum for the Insane, in the office of...
